Seasonal Recovery Toolkit

Supporting your recovery through the seasons

A Beyond BARS Coaching Resource

As the season turns, so does the focus of your support. This toolkit is yours to fill in — one season at a time — until you have a way to care for your recovery all year round.

HOW TO USE THIS TOOLKIT

- Start with the season you're in. There's no wrong place to begin.
- Let the ideas spark you, then make every list your own — your foods, your movement, your rituals.
- Keep what works and adjust as you grow. Your needs change with the seasons, and so can this.
- By the end of the year, the final page becomes your year-round toolkit at a glance.

Fall

Grounding & Steady Routine

As the light fades, recovery leans on grounding, steady routine, and gentle care.

This season, my recovery focus is...

Foods That Nourish Me

Ideas: roasted root vegetables, warm soups & stews, squash, hearty grains

Movement & Activities

Ideas: crisp-air walks, grounding yoga, journaling as the evenings draw in

Grounding & Regulation

A practice I return to: a grounding breath, feet on the earth, a slow morning pause

Self-Care Rituals

Ideas: a steady morning routine, an earlier wind-down, warm baths

What Feels Harder This Season

Notice: shorter days, lower energy, back-to-routine stress

My Support & In-the-Moment Tools

Ideas: who I reach out to, my grounding practice, what steadies me

My intention for this season:

Winter

Rest & Connection

The quietest, often hardest season. Recovery is carried by rest, warmth, and staying connected.

This season, my recovery focus is...

Foods That Nourish Me

Ideas: nourishing stews, warm breakfasts, comfort foods without alcohol

Movement & Activities

Ideas: morning light, gentle movement, cozy creative time

Grounding & Regulation

A practice I return to: a warming breath, a hand on the heart, candlelit stillness

Self-Care Rituals

Ideas: a soothing nighttime ritual, connection check-ins, self-compassion

What Feels Harder This Season

Notice: the holidays, isolation, low light & mood, family gatherings

My Support & In-the-Moment Tools

Ideas: my holiday plan, who I lean on, my comfort that isn't a drink

My intention for this season:

Spring

Renewal & Fresh Starts

Energy returns. A season for gentle renewal, clearing space, and setting fresh intentions.

This season, my recovery focus is...

Foods That Nourish Me

Ideas: bitter spring greens, fresh vegetables, lighter meals

Movement & Activities

Ideas: getting back outside, walking, planting or gardening, an energizing flow

Grounding & Regulation

A practice I return to: a fresh-air breath, a stretch by an open window, an intention set

Self-Care Rituals

Ideas: clearing space, fresh routines, intention-setting

What Feels Harder This Season

Notice: spring social events, restlessness, overcommitting

My Support & In-the-Moment Tools

Ideas: my boundaries, my pace, what keeps me grounded as I speed up

My intention for this season:

Summer

Energy & Social Navigation

High energy and a full social calendar. Recovery stays steady with cool, rest, and a plan for gatherings.

This season, my recovery focus is...

Foods That Nourish Me

Ideas: hydrating fruits, fresh salads, light fare

Grounding & Regulation

A practice I return to: a cooling breath, shade and stillness, a pause before a gathering

What Feels Harder This Season

Notice: parties, BBQs, travel, alcohol-centered events

Movement & Activities

Ideas: morning movement before the heat, swimming, outdoor connection

Self-Care Rituals

Ideas: a hydration habit, sun care, real rest in the heat

My Support & In-the-Moment Tools

Ideas: my go-to mocktail, my exit plan, who I text when it's hard

My intention for this season:
